Ranchi: Union tribal affairs minister, Arjun Munda, on Saturday exhorted students of IIM Ranchi to serve the country even while pursuing their individual careers.

Addressing the students during a seminar on good governance, the minister said, "The students here have the best of environment for studies. It is not wrong to aim for jobs or become business leaders after completing the course. However, one must also think of serving the nation."

The talk was organised by the Atal Bihari Centre for Leadership, Policy and Governance on the IIM campus.

The minister expressed hope that a day will come when every Indian will proclaim to have contributed to the progress of the nation.
